Angry Panda project aims to protect investors from the inherent risks in investing in a cryptocurrency, guaranteeing almost the whole value paid for its coins. In addition to giving greater security and confidence to investors, it is designed to facilitate and encourage the daily use of cryptocurrencies providing fast, cheap and secure ways to send payments.

We provide cryptocurrencies that include a guaranteed minimum repurchase price linked to fiat currencies, USD and EUR, and that can also be traded with all the others existing cryptocurrencies without price limits. As a result, it is both possible to trade to make profits and, above all, investors are protected against loss of value of their coins through our guaranteed price - in USD and EUR - mostly during down trends and bear markets. The key solution of our project consists, therefore, in a refund of almost all the capital invested in our coins (about 95%) through an automatic repurchase system. In fact, when we sell our tokens, we also put a buy order for the same amount. In this way, when a trader needs to sell, he can receive back its money in USD or EUR through our immediate and automatic repurchase at the fixed guaranteed prices, at any time and for any amount.
